Five Artists who Teach

A common principle unites the five artists whose work may be seen in the Sandusky Area Cultural Center during March. As teachers, they believe that to enrich and enliven their teaching, they must continue productivity in their specialized field exacting, thereby, respect as individual artists. From such creative activity deliberately maintained despite the demands of heavy teaching schedules, comes, they are convinced, a vitality in ideas and preparation and a reaffirmation of personality which they carry directly - and inevitably - into the classroom.

The Center is happy to present this exhibit believing that the Community will take pride in the strength of conviction which animates these artists and in the talents they display; and that others who seek in creativity the expression of themselves and their beliefs will find fresh encouragement. The artists will be in attendance for the opening on March 5 from 1:00 to 4:00.

March 5-26 Sundays 1:00-4:00 weekdays until 5:00; Thurs. evenings 7:00-9:00

Janet Brian Russell

was born in Newark, New Jersey, educated in Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and received her BFA degree from Ohio University. She has taught art in the Pickering Schools; in the Perkins School System at Briar Elementary and Perkins Jr. High; and presently teaches at Woodlands Elementary School in Huron. Her work in mixed media watercolor has been exhibited at 13 West Gallery, Bromley Hall, and the Fine Arts Building Gallery all in Athens, Ohio; Huntington Galleries, Huntington, West Virginia; Cedar Center, University Heights, Ohio; and the Sandusky Exchange Club Art Show.

Anna Margaret Buchanan

holds a BA from Muskingum College, and has done graduate work at the University of New Mexico. She has studied painting with Milla Harrison, Frank Smith, and Tony Van Hasselt. She came to Sandusky to teach in 1949 after teaching one year in Colorado, and one in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, Schools. In Sandusky she has taught art in elementary, junior high, and in the adult education departments. Her interest in creative stitchery has led to a tradition of student projects in creating pillows at Adams Jr. High, where she presently teaches. Her annual entries in the Sandusky Exchange Club Art Show display her versatility.

Charles T. Mayer

has his BS and MA degrees from Case/Western Reserve University and the Cleveland Institute of Art. He has taught art in the public schools of Shaker Heights, Lorain, and Sandusky where he presently teaches at Monroe and Madison Schools. Mr. Mayer is best known for his meticulous cloisonné enamels which have won awards in Cleveland Museum of Art May Shows, as well as local exhibits. His portrait drawings formed the January 1971 exhibit at the Sandusky Cultural Center. He is also responsible for the design and calligraphy of the Cultural Center announcements. Mr. Mayer's current major project is the collaboration with Frank W. Smith on the production of an illustrated elementary art curriculum guide for use in the Sandusky schools. He also teaches adult drawing classes at Sandusky High School.

Laura Louise Koehler

received her BFA in Art from Illinois Wesleyan University and has done graduate work in Cinema/Photography at Ohio State University and Bowling Green State University. She is certified to teach art and photography and is presently teaching elementary art in the Sandusky Schools. Miss Koehler is a member of the Mansfield Art Center where she has exhibited in the Members Show. Besides exhibiting in many of the art shows of this area, she has also shown her work in Lincoln, Illinois, and the Silver Image Gallery, Columbus, Ohio. In 1969 she had her own one man show in Bloomington, Illinois.
